

‘Cause You Care

Field of interest funds provide dedicated support to specific areas or causes. A field of interest fund might support education, music, art, human services, or any other area of interest identified by a donor. These funds meet a specific community need now while allowing for flexibility and continued support of that same cause into the future.

Establishing A Fund

As a donor interested in establishing a field of interest fund, you will work closely with Foundation staff to name your fund and clearly define its purpose. Your field of interest fund may support community grantmaking in the area of interest you have defined through competitive or strategic grant programs. In some cases, a field of interest fund supports a separate and unique grant cycle.

Grants In Action

Field of Interest funds are used to support a variety of community grantmaking. Funds used to award grants are included in public press releases and Foundation publications.
